We get asked one question more often than any other about the SunPal Solar Real Estate Lights - how do we keep them from getting stolen? The truth is, in all the time that we have been selling these lights, we have not had a single real estate agent approach us and tell us that their SunPal had been stolen. Having said that, we have taken your concerns to heart from the very beginning. All SunPal, SunPal 4X and SunPal 2X Solar Real Estate Sign Lights come with customized hex bolts and tool that are only available with the SunPal Series - this tool is required to attach your SunPal to a real estate sign, and is also required to take it back off, protecting your investment from theft, or accidental damage from falling off the sign. But now we have taken it a step further!

Brand New from Silicon Solar - SunPal Security Kits! These new security lock kits are designed and manufactured by Silicon Solar specifically for the SunPal Solar Real Estate Sign Lights Series, and make it virtually impossible to remove your real estate sign light from your real estate sign once it has been locked in place.

There are 3 different lock kits available - a 1" kit, a 2" kit, and a 3-3/4" kit, allowing security on real estate signs of any size, on any type, or size, frame. Each kit will be sold as an individual product, and will retail for under $5 (USD). If you plan to use your SunPal or SunPal 2X on different sized real estate signs, it is recommended that you purchase one kit for each different sized sign that you have so that you are not stuck waiting for a new security kit to arrive when you need to get your SunPal out on a listing sign immediately.

At Silicon Solar, we are all about protecting and securing your investment - and these new security kits do just that - provide you the peace of mind to know that your SunPal is safe and secure from theft and accidental damage from falling.
